Celebrating Twenty Five Years of service

"HEALTH IS LIFE IS HEALTH"

PROGRAM

"Celebrating gives an individual a time to reflect, to appreciate, and to be grateful for the successes and to also recall and be humble for rising to the challenges of the professional and personal barriers that have been placed along the road as we gather to savour this auspicious occasion.

WAMS are celebrating for two main reasons;

One - is to thank our clients and our community who are the foundation of our operations and our partners from a local to a national level who support us each day to ensure we provide a quality health care service.

The second reason - is to recognise the efforts of the staff and the Directors who have all worked together since 1986 as WAMS now celebrate this silver anniversary.

For Aboriginal people - such a milestone of existence is a major accomplishment in surviving both the State and Commonwealth governments political changes around the livelihood for Aboriginal Affairs and Aboriginal Health."

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people are warned that the following program will contain images of deceased people and some may find this distressing.

Sean Choolburra has developed into one of Australia's Finest Cultural Ambassador's. He's DEADLY, Dynamic, at times almost Hypnotic ... A Captivating Comedy & Cultural Performer. Sean is a huge inspiration to the youth of Australia. He is in constant demand as an MC, Comedian, Dancer, Hip Hop Didge Player & Traditional Workshop Performer.

Hailing from Townsville, Sean has an established career as a dancer and created the NGARU Dance Company and performed all over the world with the Bangarra Dance Company, including by invitation for the Dalai Lama, Hale & Pace and Prince Charles. He is charming, captivating, cheeky, clever and charismatic. Perhaps his ability is to share the naivety of a small town aboriginal boy still coming to grips with the big city lights that make him all that much more inviting and engaging as a performer.

Sean's comedy is uniquely & truly Australian. His is a fresh new voice in a comedy scene inundated by white fellas. He blends popular culture, dance, comedy and hip hop in a high energy, feel good show. He is a rising star of not only the comedy world but also as an all round entertainer and guaranteed to raise your spirit while splitting your spleen.

STIFF GINS

On the verge of their anticipated third album release, Stiff Gins Nardi Simpson and Kaleena Briggs have much to celebrate. Eleven years ago, their moniker was a reclamation of an offensive reference to Aboriginal women, a banner to guide their music in the direction of strength and pride. Three albums and countless breathtaking shows later, the name has become synonymous with musical excellence.

They have travelled the world, received prestigious awards, and created a loyal fan base with their heart-songs and emotive performances. They've performed for troops in the Middle East and remote communities in Australia, and developed a musical friendship that has transformed them both. Now, with their new album Wind & Water, they have perfected a sound that honours the raw power of their voices and their history while leading them firmly into the future of Australian music.

Musicians Making a Difference

MMAD's purpose is to improve the lives of all young people, particularly disadvantaged and marginalised youth, through the power of music, the creative arts, and unconditional positive regard.

Over ten years, MMAD has developed programs with an aim to inspire, develop and empower young people. Their programs can break the cycle of negativity and help young people to reach their full potential.

Involvement from well known & up and coming Australian musicians, supporters, and the dedication of MMAD's talented and passionate team of youth workers, counsellors and professional facilitators, has allowed them to provide hope, resources and avenues for positive change in some of the most isolated and troubled, but beautiful, parts of Australia.

Jimmy Little

Jimmy Little began his recording career in 1956. His nationwide profile grew through regular television appearances, radio airplay and constant touring, so much so that by 1964 Australian national magazine Everybody's, which was the bible of the teen scene in the early 60s, named Jimmy Australian Pop Star of the year.

Jimmy is a very proud Australian who has something in his repertoire to entertain all age groups. In 2004 a public vote named him a "National Living Treasure" and Jimmy received an Australian Order (AO) for his life in the entertainment industry and his ongoing work with indigenous education and health. Queensland University of Technology have awarded Jimmy an honorary Doctorate and recently he received the Classic Rock performer MO award of 2004.

Mark Olive - "The Black Olive Chef"

Mark Olive, aka 'The Black Olive', has been a chef for over 25 years and has become a well known Australian celebrity with his charismatic style and creative approach to food, starring in his own television series 'The Outback Cafe' and a host of cooking, lifestyle and travel shows nationally and globally. Mark's passion for fusing native food and culture with contemporary lifestyle cooking has led to a huge international profile, and the creation of Black Olive Catering, an indigenous catering company and function space in North Melbourne, Victoria.

As a Bundjalung man, Mark's family originated from the Northern Rivers region in NSW. Born in Wollongong he became interested in cooking as a child, watching his mother and aunts prepare meals. He trained under a European chef and has worked in a number of kitchens ranging from theatres, universities, health services, film sets and in a la carte restaurants around the globe, before establishing his own business in 2008.

Due to his success, in 2010 Mark was chosen to be part of TA's 'Friends of Australia' program, which was "created to harness the power of bright and influential individuals who are making a name for themselves on the world stage, and who have a genuine affinity with Australia".
