Maggie's legacy is a Trauma-informed workshop that impart an understanding of domestic violence by unveiling the cycles of domestic violence.

The workshop in Walgett was designed for frontline workers who work and deal directly with clients involved in domestic violence relationships. It was presented in ways that frontline workers can safely implement safe practices when working in domestic violence situations.

The Brewarrina Workshop was presented to women residing at the Women's shelter, staff from the Shelter and the AMS. The workshop also provided education on the cycle of domestic violence and provided a support circle to assist in their healing.
