

Walgett Show 2021

The Walgett Show provided an opportunity for the community to see what services Walgett Aboriginal Medical Service offer.

WAMS representatives from Healthy lifestyles, Suicide Intervention, Healthy Mums and Bubs, Sexual Health and Aboriginal Health Workers attended the Walgett Show to engage with local residents from in and around the shire. WAMS staff included Whitney Skuthorpe, Nichole Kennedy, Darlene Mason, Bet Ineke, Annie Deane, Kiara Smith, David Baylis, Loretta Weatherall, Kelly Rowe, Bruce Moore, Dr Brian and Dr Erika.

This attendance fostered conversations around services in our local communities. While at the show members of the community were invited to have their blood pressure taken and make appointments to have Health Checks at a later date. There was fresh produce from the Community Garden and the community were able to learn about the impacts from this project.

The show was an excellent opportunity for general discussion and for the community to ask about services provided by WAMS in a relaxed environment.
